

Boiron statement regarding the FDA Press Release

Saint-Bruno-de-Montarville, October 21st, 2016 - On Sept. 30, 2016, a press release entitled "FDA warns against the use of homeopathic teething tablets and gels," was distributed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA). The FDA is responsible for drug regulation in the United States.

In Canada, Homeopathic Medicines are regulated by Health Canada as Natural Health Products. In an alert¹ released on Oct. 20, 2016, Health Canada informs Canadian consumers that "At this time, there is no indication of a similar safety concern in Canada."

Boiron's Camilia, a homeopathic medicine for teething, is available in about 15 countries in sterile and drinkable single liquid doses. As previously mentioned, the FDA's press release warns only against the use of teething tablets and gels. Furthermore, Boiron USA was not contacted by the FDA.

Camilia teething medicine has a valid DIN-HM issued by Health Canada (NNHPD) and has never been recalled. Indeed, Camilia has a remarkable safety record since it first debuted on the market more than 20 years ago. This medicine is relied upon by parents in many countries, including Canada and France, where it is a top-seller and has proven consumer satisfaction.

Boiron's homeopathic medicines have been sold in Canada for 28 years now. They are manufactured in France according to the guidelines set for Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP) that apply for pharmaceutical products. Each step of those exhaustive guidelines is strictly followed to ensure that our medicines always meet their specifications.
